Report on International Youth Day Program at TSRTC Kalabhavan

Organized by: Telangana State AIDS Control Society (TSACS)

Date: August 12, 2025

Venue: TSRTC Kalabhavan, Hyderabad

Introduction:

The Telangana State AIDS Control Society (TSACS) marked International Youth Day with an engaging and informative program at TSRTC Kalabhavan. The event aimed to raise awareness about HIV/AIDS, emphasizing the crucial role of youth in the fight against the epidemic. The event aimed to engage the youth in Rally From Sundarraya Park To Tsrct Kalabhavan and discussions about HIV/AIDS prevention, awareness, and the role they can play in controlling the spread of the virus.

The 2 NSS programme officers attend meeting with 86 NSS volunteers and received Mementos and Certificates .

Event Highlights:

1. Lighting of the Lamp:

The program began with a traditional lighting of the lamp by the dignitaries, symbolizing the start of the event and the illumination of knowledge and awareness about HIV/AIDS.

2. Cultural Performances:

The cultural segment began with a captivating dance performance by students, centered around the theme of HIV/AIDS. The performance beautifully portrayed the challenges and emotional journey of those affected by the disease, sending a strong message about awareness and prevention.

3. Keynote Speeches:

* Prof. E Vidyasagar , NSS Coordinator, delivered an insightful speech about the role of youth in social causes, urging young people to be proactive in spreading awareness about HIV prevention.

* Dr. Vasam Venkateshwar Reddy , IAS, Project Director for TSACS, shared valuable information on the ongoing efforts of the Telangana State AIDS Control Society, highlighting their programs and initiatives aimed at reducing the stigma surrounding HIV/AIDS.

4. Special Guests:

* Bullet Bhaskar and Faima , special guests of the event, entertained the audience with their humorous skit . Their performance lightened the atmosphere while simultaneously driving home important messages about HIV/AIDS awareness.

* Nataraj Band took the stage next, showcasing their folk singing skills . The group's performance was not only entertaining but also motivating, encouraging youth to actively engage in social causes and to use their talents for change.

* One of the patients shared her personal story during the TSACS session. She explained that she has been living with HIV since childhood, having contracted the virus at a young age. Tragically, she also lost both of her parents early in life. Her testimony highlighted the emotional, social, and health-related challenges faced by children growing up with HIV, as well as the importance of support systems like TSACS in navigating such experiences.

Conclusion:

The event was a successful blend of entertainment and education, effectively engaging the youth in discussions around HIV/AIDS. Through performances, speeches, and interactive elements, TSACS highlighted the importance of youth involvement in combating the epidemic and fostering a culture of awareness, compassion, and responsibility.
